ALL EYES ON INDIANAPOLIS.

The Capital of the Nation Draped in Appropriate Mourning Garb.

Gossip in Connection with the Republican Selection-Cleveland's Honorable Course with Hendricks-Capital News.

Gossip from Washington. WASHINGTON, Nov. 30,- | Special to the BEE. - Washington is very quiet to-day. All eyes are on Indianapolis and the approaching event in which the president and his cabinet had intended to join with the representatives of the entire nation to do honor to the memory of the dead vice president. The president, however, after consultation with senators and others, has finally abandoned his proposed trip. The gossip of the hour which inquires what will be the next step in the march of political events has been suspended, in part, at last. The city wears a fun-ral aspect. Thousands of yards of crape have been put in place since Thanksriving day, and thousands of dollars expended in this last tribute of honor to the dead.

this last tribute of honor to the dead.

With the close of the ceremonics at Indianpolis to-morrow, the members of the senate will turn their faces towards Washington again. The expected cancus of the republican senators will be held this week, and a name selected for the presiding officer of the senate. The impression still prevails that Logan will be decided upon for that place.
Talks with republican senators who have been here of late indicate that a large proportion prefer Logan for the position, and

Talks with republican senators who have been here of late indicate that a large proportion prefer Logan for the position, and look upon the work of the convention which sominated him for vice president as practically an instruction in this regard.

Cleveland has been very much depressed since the death of Hendricks. The relations between the president and the vice president were much more kindly than gossipers would have the public believe. There was no clashing, and while Hendricks may not have held views wholly in accord with those of Cleveland in regard to the distribution of others, that fact did not at all interfere with their relations, which were entirely harmonious. Hendricks has never had occasion to complain of the president, nor of his treatment. The talk about dissatisfaction on the part of Hendricks with the share of offices allotted to him to distribute was groundless. Now that Hendricks is dead, there is no impropriety in giving the details of what passed between him and Cleveland on this subject. It is known to very few people, but will be interesting at this time.

Hendricks and Cleveland had never met until after their nomination for president and vice president respectively. Then Hendrick and vice president respectively.

Hendricks and Cleveland had never met until after their nomination for president and vice president respectively. Then Hendricks made a trip to New York, and called upon Cleveland at Albany. The conference was long and entirely satisfactory to both these gentlemen. Hendricks was entirely satisfied with Cleveland and with his suggestions. In the course of conversation the question of patronage arose and received some attention. It was considered advisable that Hendricks should know in advance what positions would be at his disposal in case of the success of the democratic party. This was considered entirely proper and indeed necessary, as the management of the campaign in his own state would be affected thereby. Cleveland told him frankly what his views were, and what share he desired Hendricks to take in the distribution of patronage, especially in his own state. The suggestions of Cleveland were entirely satisfactory to Hendricks. This talk took place in Mr. Cleveland's office, and as the ground was being gone over Hendricks picked up a newspaper wrapper, which chanced to lie near his hand, and made a memorandum of the offices which Mr. Cleveland indicated that he should desire him to fill, should they be elected.

After the election the newspapers began

After the election the newspapers began talking of a disposition on the part of Cleveland to make all his own appointments. Some of Hendrick's friends seeing this called upon Mr. Cleveland and directed his attention to these statements. "Tell Hendricks," he said, "Plat he need not be disturbed by these statements. He shall have not only all that was agreed upon in our talk about the matter, but more. He has, I think, a memorandum of the agreement of that oc-casion, and every detail of that shall be car-ried out, and more will be wilded." And this was done. Clevel and not only kept his full agreement, but did more, and Hendricks never had occasion to complain of his treat-ment, either personal or official, at the hands of the mesident of the president.

New Mexican Indian Troubles. Washington, Nov. 30.-Adjutant General Drum has received a telegram from General Crook, saying Sanches brought into Fort Ap. the last evening the head of one of the hostiles named Ogare Qualah. He also reports the hostiles killing all the White Mountain Indians they can find scattered over the reservation. It seems probable that up to this time they have killed eleven women, fourteen children, and aye men and women, fourteen children, and aye men and boys. The White Mountains threaten to retailate on the Chiricahuas remaining on the reservation, but these are close to Fort Apache, and carefully guarded. The Indians on the reservation are extremely aroused. Several parties of scouts and troops are hunting the hostiles. All the Indian camps have been notined. There is reason to believe that more hostiles will be killed.

Gen. Logan Interviewed.

CHICAGO, Nov. 30,-[Special to the BEE.] -Senator Logan is in town to-day. "All I can say is, the death of Hendricks is regretted by everybody," said he, when asked concerning the situation relative to the death of the vice president.

"It is a matter of mere speculation," he resumed, "as to who will fill the vacaney,"
"Your name has been prominently mentioned for the position," was suggested.
"Yes, but that was newspaper talk. I have not asked nor have I made any attempt to obtain the position." obtain the position."

"But you would take it if elected," added a friend, to which the senator made no reply.

"There will probably be nothing done until after the holidays," said the general. "We have a caneus Friday and the matter will be talked over. That's all I can say,"

A Good Rule to Enforce.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 30. -With the approval of Secretary Lamar, Gen. Johnston, commissioner of railroads, to-day promulgated rules for a system of sworn reports to be submitted to him by the land grant railway companies. The regulations are principally upon the subject of act and gross earnings, and in relation to advising him of the proceedings of stockholders' and directors' meetings. They are quite elaborate and apparently of the most stringent character.

M'DONALD'S MINISTRY.

A Movement to Defeat the Canadian Premier's Government.

Boston, Nov. 29,-A special to the Globe from Toronto says everybody in the Domin ion is looking forward to the defeat of Sir John MacDonald's government on the open. THE PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE of parliament on January 21. The French of the Province of Quebec have determined, irrespective of politics, to unite with the liberals. to secure that result. It is thought that the governor general will call on Edward Blake. leader of the opposition, to form a new ministry. The members would have to go to the istry. The members would have to go to the country for re-election before inaugurating their policy, which would probably include reciprocity with the United States and the operation of the Canadian Pachic raitroad only so far as the development of the country demands. The conservatives expect increased support from Ontario, but the orange excitement there died out after Riel's execution, and a strong sympathy for Reil seems to be springing up in many quarters where before there was only race hatred. It is a prevalent opinion in this part of the country that Sir John executed Riel because he felt certain it would retain more votes than the execution would lose more strength by reprieving Riel than by hanging him. If the French Canadians could have polled more votes for Riel's life than the Orangemen for his death Sir John would have commuted the sentence. In proof of this it is asserted that on the Thursday before the execution Sir John acknowledged that he was puzzled to know how to deal with Riel. If in the coming elections Sir John chances to use the act providing for the appointment of revising barristers passed the last session it will return him to power. This act takes the revision of the voters' lists out of the hands of nonpartisan officials and gives it to government officials, who are responsible to the ministry. Any voter having his name struck off can secure redress only by appealing to the high courts. country for re-election before inaugurating secure redress only by appealing to the high

A LOVER DOSED. Suspected Case of Poisoning by His

Best Girl's Mother. KEOKUK, Iowa, Nov. 20 .- | Special to the Bee.]-A suspected case of murder by poisoning has developed in Davis county, near Bloomfield. Ephriam Christy, aged 19, had been courting Libbie, the 14-year-old daughter of a neighbor, Mrs. Brooks. The mother had been heard to threaten a dog's dose to any one who came to see her daughter, but had not threatened Christy. One day last week he stopped at the house and was in company with the young lady awhile, leaving for home about 10 o clock. The next morning his body was found in a straw-stack forty rods distant, with his face purple and his clothing partially covered with a white frothy substance, as though from vomiting. Suspicion points to poisoning as the occasion of his death, and the stomach of the dead man has been taken to Keokuk for a chemical analysis.

Ada Sweet Married.

CEDAR RAPIDS, Ia., Nov. 30,-[Special to the Brg.]-Miss Ada Sweet, ex-pension agent at Chicago, was married recently to J. Berdine Carter at the residence of Capt. D. S. Sammins in Babylon, L. I. Mr. Sammins is an uncle of the bride. Rev. George Carter, of New York, cousin of the groom, performed the ceremony. Mr. Carter is a merchant in this city, and the couple have settled down here. Miss Sweet will be remembered as the pension agent who had a lively till with the administration before she resigned the office.

A Raitroad Land Purchase. DUBUQUE, Iowa, Nov. 30.—The Chicago, Burlington & Northern Railroad company to-day purchased for depot grounds a large strip of river front here, price $55,000. The Dead Vice President.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 80.—All trains oming into the city this morning were crowded. The several roads were compelled to run extras to accommodate the people who desired to come to the capital to witness the funeral. The remains still lie in state in the corridor of the court house, whence they will be removed to the family residence at 5 o'clock this evening. There was a steady stream of humanity pouring through the court house all day. The doors were opened at 7 o'clock this morning, and from that time up to noon the crowd passed through at the rate of seventy-five a minute, probably 25,000 viewing the remains up to 1 o'clock. A great part of these were from outside the city. Hon. David Davis, of Illinois, who was expected to arrive here to-day, and deliver an address at the bar meeting, telegraphs that on account of the death of a relative at Springfield he will be unable to attend.

This evening the mishing touches were given to the mourning decorations. A surging and ever increasing throng was to be met at almost every point. When the great doors at almost every point. When the great doors of the court house were closed at 4 p. m., a crowd numbering thousands were still in line waiting to take a glance at the face of the dead. For some time previous ninety persons a minute passed the body. It is estimated 49,000 people viewed the remains during the day. The casket was returned to the parlor of Hendricks' homestead, escorted by the four Indianapolis military companies the four Indianapolis military companies and the Columbus military band. Until re-noved to the church to-morrow the body rests beneath the roof where were spent its last living hours.

King Thebaw Surrenders the Capital, RANGOON, Nov. 30.-King Thebaw, of Burmah, becoming alarmed at the rapid approach of the British expeditionary force, notwithstanding the resistance offered by the Burmese, sent a messenger to Gen, Prendergast begging to grant an armistice for the purpose of peaceably settling the difficulty between-Burmah and the Indian government. Gen. Prendergast in reply demanded the surren-der of the Burmese army and Mandalay, the capital, stating that only then could be en-tertain any request looking to the settlement of the dispute. King Thebaw accessed to the terms and the Awa forts with twenty-eight guns, were turned over to the British troops. A garrison was placed there. British troops proceeded to Mandalay on the 28th lust.

MURDER WILL OUT.

A Nebraska Mystery Solved-The Murderer Attempts Suicide.

Beathice, Neb., Nov. 30,—[Special to the Bee.]—James F. Chestnut, a farmer near here, moved last February to Norton county, Kan,, and from there to Beaver City, Neb. He passed through here on his last trip to Kansas, October 10 last. On the evening of November 15 he camped near Rice, Cloud. county, Kansas, with four horses and a spring wagon. The same evening a man named Wells, living near Rice, went out hunting, returning late the same night, and then disappeared. Nothing more was seen of him. Four days afterward the dead body of a man was found floating on the Republican river mar here and recognized as the man who had camped near Rice. Wounds were found in his head, made by a charge of shot. Wells was suspected. But could not be found, though it was discovered that he had shipped two horses and a wagon to Augusta, Ill., under the name of Pace. Kansas authorities went to Augusta and did not find him, but traced him to McComb, Ill., where they found him in jail inducted for forgery. He had possession of the horses and wagon, and a trunk containing the name of J. T. Chertnut on paper. Blood was also found on the coat and blanket in the trunk. Pictures were also found which were on being sent to this place recognized as being the likeness of Chestnut. Wells being accused of the crime denied it but the same night attempted sulspring wagon. The same evening a man Chestnut. Wells being accused of the crime denied it, but the same night attempted suicide. Wells will be taken to Kansas and tried for the murder. Chestnut was well known here. His family live at Beaver City and have been notined to go to McComb and claim the property, but as yet nothing has been heard from there.

A Pork and Butter Boom. O'NEILL, Neb., Nov. 30, - Special to the BEE. |-The O'Neill Packing company are making extensive preparations for slaughter ing hogs and curing the meat for the western market. They expect to make a saving of market. They expect to make a saving of freight to the eastern cities and return by op-erating here, and the success of the enter-prise is evident. The O'Neill creamery has during the past season produced 75,000 pounds of gilt-edged butter and about 10,000 pounds of cheese, which realized over $13,000. With the advancement of the age O'Neill keeps pace and Holt county is surely destined to become one of wealth.

A BLOODLESS MOB.

Scandinavians Bent on Doling Out

Dose of Judge Lynch. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Nov. 30.-Sunday morning a mob, bent on breaking into the county jail for the purpose of taking E. J. Teipner out to mete out to him summary justice after the code of Judge Lynch, rallied in formidable force, but they seemed to lack organization. The crowd was demonstrative. and shouted itself hoarse in attempts to serew up sufficient courage to make a sally for the barred doors. The police, about tifteen in number, in command of Chief West, and armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers, armed with Winchester rifles and revolvers, were placed on picket duty surrounding the building, and continued the vigit throughout the night. At about 4:30 a. m., the mob began to move, at irst rapidly, but as they neared the court house yard they grew cautious and wavered. Finally the feader, armed with a ponderous sledge hanmer, exied out for the mob to follow him, and a rush was made. The police formed in an instant, and, with fixed bayonets, repulsed the onset. The leader was cantured. His instant, and, with need bayonets, repulsed the onset. The leader was captured. His face was blackened with burnt cork, and he gives his name as Swen Johnson. He is still in custody at the jail. He stated that he had not intended to take part in the attack upon the jail. He had retired for the night when a deputation from Norden hall, in Centennial block where the growd had assembled early block, where the crowd had assembled early in the evening to consummate an organization, called upon him. After the arrest had been made the mob began uring pistol shots, and yelling like demons. At 5 o'clock a four-horse team, loaded with Scandinavians, came dashing up the streets, the men yelling and keeping up a continuous volley of revolver shots, but when they reached the jall they did not halt. They drove past with the horses at a full gallon, returning a few minutes later. block, where the crowd had assembled early a full gallop, returning a few minutes later, repeating the same programme. With the dawn of day the erowds-dispersed, and the officers retired to their homes for needed rest.

TECUMSER'S TERROR.

Two Prominent Citizens Probably

Killed by a Michigan Bully. ADRIAN, Mich., Nov. 80 .- At a late hour Saturday night in the village of Tecumseh, north of this city, Aaron Palmer shot B. P. and Irwin B. Anderson, merchants. Both are still alive, although in a precarious condition. Palmer is a young ruttian, aged about 28 years, who has attempted murder before. He masqueraded the streets of Tecumseh last evening armed with knife and re-volver, and succeeded in terrifying citizens volver, and succeeded in terrifying citizens and officers. At 11 o'clock he entered the posfollice, which was open for the late mails, and began flourishing a long knife. B. P. Anderson attempted to pacify him and succeeded in reaching the street with him. He then turned to leave, when Palmer called him, and as he turned, shot him in the breast. The wounded man's brother, though unarmed, sprang on the marderer, and engaged in a terrine hand to hand struggle. The bystanders were numerous, but were airaid to interfere, and after a sbort and fierce contest the other Anderson fell pierced by two bullets. The desperado short and herce contest the other Anderson fell pierced by two bullets. The desperado then smashed a lantern which was lighting the scene, and sprang away into darkness. Fred B. Wood, a young attorney, organized the terrified mob and searched the town, but without success. To-day armed bodies of men are scenting the town and country, and if found Painer stands little chance to enter the property country that the stands of the context of the stands of the st a court room. Palmer returned from the west seven months ago, and since then his presence has made lite a burden for those coming in contact with him. Some months ago he athenpted to shoot two men in this city in the rooms of a woman of questionable repute. He was then arrested, but released on a line. Tecumsch abounds with stories of his cruelty and brutality. Before the tragedy last night he drove his parents from their iome at the muzzle of a revolver. The Andersons are prominent in business circles of the county.

Coal Miners Strike.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 30. - Contrary to expectations there was no trouble at Coal Valley today. The strikers assembled at the Pine Run mines in large numbers this morning, but no attempt at violence was offered when non-union men went to work. All is quiet now, and as the strikers say they will not disturb men working, no serious trouble is apprehended. The Lynn mines at Pine Run are the only ones in operation. There is a dispute as to the number of men at work. Operators claim that thirty men went in this morning, but the strikers say there were no more than fifteen.

A Mayor in a Street Fight. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 30 .- P. Booker Reed, mayor of Louisville, and Wharfmaster Charles Kremer had a street fight yesterday. The mayor was considerably bruised about the face. The difficulty had its origin in the heated aldermanic race in the Seventh ward, in which the two are supporting rival candidates. Kremer says that he knocked Reed down because the mayor tried to bribe and intimidate him into supporting the administration candidate. This is Mr. Reed's third encounter since he was elected mayor.

FROZEN FAST IN THE ICE.

Finding the Body of Warren S. Yates on

DEATH OF LINCOLN'S TUTOR.

Baiting Island.

A Prominent Figure in Illinois' History Passes Away-A Remarkable Surgical Operation Performed.

Finding Young Yates' Body.

NEW YORK, Nov.39.—[Special to the BEE.]

The open boat containing the dead body of Warren Samuel Yates drifted ashore at Baiting Hollow, Long Island, Saturday. The body was lying on its back, frozen fast in the ice which covered the boat's bottom. By his side was his gun, coated with ice. Victor B Caldwell, room-mate of Yates at Yale, and who started out with him on a duck hunt on Thimble Islands on the Connecticut shore, on Thanksgiving morning, arrived at Baiting Hollow by train soon after the finding of the body. He had been on Long Island looking for his friend ever since his own rescue on Thursday evening. He will take charge of the body after the inquest at River Head today, and will send it home to the young man's parents. How it is that the little boat dritted about in the sound nearly sixty hours in a rough sea without upsetting puzzles everybody. It is partly explained by the tact that the body lay in the bottom of the boat, and thus served to balance it. Yates' hands were much blistered, indicating how hard le had struggled with the oars. Only one oar was found in the boat.

Yates and Caldwell were sophomores. Both were from Omaha, where Yates' father is rates and Caidwen were sopnomores, Both were from Omaha, where Yates' father is president of the Nebraska National bank. A heavy northeast wind was blowing when they started out in the water, and before they had a sense of danger, they had been driven southward almost beyond rescue, When at lost they saw their danger, and driven southward almost beyond rescue. When at last they saw their danger, each tried to beach their boat on one of the numerous little islands. Caldwell succeeded with great exertion in running his boat on an island known as Outer Rock. Here he was obliged to stand and watch his friend, as the latter was carried out on the sound. Yates knew little about the management of a boat, and people on the many Islands saw him standing up in his boat wringing his hands as he drifted away. Caldwell, after being rescued, returned to New Haven and after reporting the loss of his friend, started at once for Long Island in hopes that Yates might drift over alive. The boat drifted about infteen miles.

Death of Lincoln's Tutor. SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Nov. 30 .- | Special to the BEE.]-Hon, John T. Stuart, an old and honored citizen of Springfield, and a man who was a prominent figure in the earlier history of the state, died Saturday afternoon at the age of 78 years, and of illness that was not regarded as serious until an hour or two before his death. He was the peer of such men as Stephen T. Logan, Abraham Lincoln, Milton Hay, John M. Palmer, and others as eminent as they in their profession. He was the tutor of Abraham Lincoln, and afterwards his law partner. He early became wards his law partner. He early became prominent in the politics of the state, and was frequently elected to positions of honor and trust. He was a wing during the life of that party. In 1832 when-but 25 years of age, he was elected to the lower house of the legislatur, and was reclected in 1834. In 1836 he made a race for representative in congress against William T. May, and was defeated. In 1838 he again became the nominee of his party, this time against Stephen A. Douglas, and was elected. In 1840 he was again elected to congress and was recognized as one of the working mem-bers of that body. In 1842 he declined re-election to congress and resumed the active prac-tice of law. In 1802 he again became a candi-date for congress and in addition to the full democratic vote he received the votes of many republicans, and was triumphantly elected. In 1864 he was the democratic candidate for congress, but was defeated by Hon. Shelby M. Cullom. From that time he ceased to take active part in public affairs. During the Blackhawk war he was major of a batallion in which Lincoln commanded a conventy in which Lincoln commanded a company. In 1843 Maj. Stuart formed a law partnership with Hon. Benjamin S. Edwards. In 1858 C. C. Brown was taken into the firm and that partnership continued up to the day of Maj. Stuart's death. He was one of three commissioners for building the new state house, was chairman of the everytive committee of the hairman of the executive committee of the Lincoln monument association, and in all of these positions discharged his duties intelligently and honestly.

Maj. Stuart leaves a widow and five children. The cide st son, John T. Stuart, jr., is a citizen of Chicago. He was a man of spotless character, and dies lamented by all.

Daring Surgical Operation. NEW YORK, Nov. 30 .- [Special to the BEE.] The Tribune this morning reports the first successful arterial transfusion in Bellevue hospital. The method was the injection of a solution of salt and water into an artery against the action of the heart, the theory being that the heart is stimulated by arterial tension, and that one innocuous fluid is as good as another. The patient was a middle. aged woman with a strong constitution, who had been shot by her husband in a fit of jealousy. The ball entered the right side of the face, earried away a part of the upper jaw and badly fractured the bone. After a week of apparent progress in the hospital the nurse discovered late at night that Mrs. Connolly was the hospital the muse discovered late at night that Mrs. Connolly was dying, secondary hemmorhage having set in. The body was cold and clammy to the touch, and the dew of discolution was on the foreshead. Hypodermic injections of whisky were given at frequent intervals and warm bottles and clothes were applied. The lacerated artery in the jaw was found with difficulty, the heart beating so low that bleeding points could not be seen. All ordinary remedies failed. The surgeon then injected a solution of salt and water and the heart gradually beat stronger. In a few minutes the woman returned to consciousness and though very weak for some days has finally recovered.

The Fenian Brotherhood.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30 .- [Special to the BEE.] -The Fenian Brotherhood published this morning in the Sun a report of its secret convention the first three days of last week. Jeremiah O'Donovan Rossa was elected chief executive. His report shows that the $100 given to the man who destroyed the Andre monument was not given to have the work done, but was given after the deed. The amount collected during the year is be tween $14,000 and $15,000 and the organization now owes a small sum to Rossa. Rossa's report to the convention insists on the wisdom of sticking to dynamite if Irishmen hope to obtain freedom for Ireland.

Tragedy Over a Divorced Woman. LOUISVILLE, Ky., Nov. 80 .- C. C. Stone. street, a farmer, was found dead near La Grange, Ky., yesterday with a bullet in his head. It is supposed that he was shot by John Ellis, a stock trader. The two had a quarrel over Ellis' divorced wife, and a bloodless shooting affray resulted, about a month ago. Ellis' horse, and one rid len by the dead man, were found together this morning. Ellis cannot be found.

Parnell's Election Contested. NEW YORK, Nov. 30,—[Special to the BEE.]
-The Herald's Dundalk (Ireland) cable says: There is doubt that Parneil's election will stand in Cork, as all his baligts had printed on them. "Parnell, leader of the Irish People," and the election laws so orders that no dis-tinguishing marks be allowed on the ballot; besides it is said that there was intimidation.

HE GOT THE GIRL.

Rough Romance of an Illinois Young

Man and His Bride. Tolono, Ill., Nov. 30.-Peter A. Bingheim, a Tolono saddler, went to Maroa a few days ago and fell in love with a beautiful young country girl, whom he induced to clope with him on a week's acquaintance, and they were married in Decatur. Bingheim thought the girl's father was very wealthy, and the girl told him that her home had always been one of elegance and luxury, but owing to a disof elegance and luxury, but owing to a dis-acreement with her stepmother she was re-siding with her friends. After the marriage Bingheim proposed that they return to Degatur and seek the old man's as-sistance in starting business and set-ting up a home for themselves. With tears in her eyes the young bride saw how wofully she had deceived her husband and explained that her father died wyear ago, bequeathing all of his estate to his second wife's children and cutting off his only daughter by his first marriage without a cent. Then Bingheim began to realize that cent. Then Bingheim began to realize that the small sum he had in his purse would soon be exhausted and returned with his bride to Tolono in search of his former situation, which he failed to obtain. After repeatedly attempting to desert his young wife he took her with him on the front end of the mail car on Friday night's train and rode out of town leaving a grip containing all of their worldiy possessions to pay the hotel keeper for their entertainment. Being driven from the train at the nest station they resumed their journey last night with the avowed purpose of finally reaching Belleville, where Bingheim's par-ents are said to reside.

A VERY BAD TEMPER.

A Brutal Young Hoosier Kicks a Defenseless Old Man. Wabash, Ind., Nov. 30,-What doubtless will prove to be a cold-blooded murder was perpetrated in the woods four miles east of Wabash this afternoon at 4 o'clock. Joseph Spencer, a young man of bad character, and Sylvester Huff, an old resident of Legro township, while passing through the woods become involved in an altereation relative to some timber, and in a fit of rage Spencer knocked the old man down and beat and kicked his face into a jelly. Subsequently Huff dragged himself to the house where Spencer lives to have his wounds dressed, and the burly young brute again attacked the infirm yieldin, crushing his skull with a club, repeatedly striking hun with dishes and articles of furniture. Blood streamed from a dozen wounds, upon the old streamed from a dozen wounds upon the old man's person, and but for the attentions of Spencer's wife, who endeavored to save him from the savage attacks, he would have bed to death. Befleving he had killed the old man. Spencer fied and remained hidden in woods until to-night, when intelligence of the crime reached the city, and an officer went out and captured him. He was lodged in jall, and a preliminary examination will be had before the mayor to-morrow morning. The assault, from what can be learned was The assault, from what can be learned, was a most wholly unprovoked. Spencer de-clares that be did not intend to kill Huff, but the fact that he renewed the atlack at his residence imparts a bad phase to the mat-ter. Huff is lying in a very critical con-dition to-night, and it is thought that he will die before marries? die before morning.

A General Corruptionist.

NEW YORK, Nov. 30.-This evening a bench warrant was issued for Major General Alexander Shaler, on the charge of bribery in connection with the purchase of miritia armory sites in this city. He was arrested a his residence, and brought to police head quarters and locked up. In testimony before the legislative committee to-day Monmoutt. B. Wilson said that by arrangement wrin Gen. Shaler, after effecting the sale of the Schell and Fairchild property to the armory board at figures greatly in excess of what the property could have been bought for at private sale, he had paid off a mortgage of $9,000 on property owned by Gen. Shaler in New Jorsey

Destructive Fire.

Committees in Council. The regular weekly gathering of the council committees was held in the chamber last evening. Notwithstanding the seductive attraction at the opera house, the attendance of committeemen was particularly satisfactory. Topics almost innumerable were discussed in a a rambling manner, and upon some it is quite likely very little will be done. The interminable jangle over the grade of Leavminable jangle over the grade of Leavenworth street was again introduced, notwithstanning that an ordinance upon the subject is now pending in the council. The proposed grade, or the substitute for the proposed grade, was dimly outlined upon a chart which had seen better days. As a consequence, the difference between the latter and the one first referred to could not be ac-curately determined. It was said, how-ever, that the compromise would be likely to give satisfaction to both Mr. Connell and Mr. Hamilton, both of whom have property which may be materially affected by an ill-considered grade. It is understood that the grade would satisfy the city engineer, who, it may be surmised, has in mind only the benefit of the city. Mr. Hamilton was seen later, by a Bee man and asked how the proposed new grade would satisfy him. He said he had not seen the line suggested, and, indeed, could not product and it if he had because it was understand it if he had, because it was badly involved with that of others so much so that he was not at all able to speak intelligently upon the subject. He did say, however, that he did not want to autagonize anybody and he might possibly favor it if he but had an opportunity to study it. He had already a grade on two sides and it was not so much a ques-tion as to who should be benefitted, as the other fact that the people and the speaker had a right to be guaranteed. A delegation of three members from the library board, headed by William Wallace, called upon the committees yesterday. The committee called to get some legal points or rather give them upon the right of the board to expend what it considers just in all its buspend what it considers just in all its bus-iness. Mr. Wallace satisfied the council that the law em-powered the board to dispose of its money as it saw lit. At the present time the board has about $400 in the treasury, and has not yet drawn for anything against the last levy, while at the same time it has to its credit a considerable amount of uncredited police fines. eral of the councilmen, among them Messrs. Bechel and Goodrich, held it would be just if the council withdrew its hands from the board, and did not trouble itself and hamper the latter body by placing these items in the appropriation ordinances. Each thought there was no necessity for that feature in the latter and hereafter it would possibly be abandoned. The viaduct question will come up of an ordinance to appoint a committee to ascertain what damages might result to residents on Tenth and Eleventh streets by the erection of a viaduet on

An Incendiary Fire.

This morning at 1:45 o'clock the old Colorado house, near Cass street school, was discovered on tire. The flames were extinguished with but little injury to the structure. They were undoubtedly work of an incendiary. The night be-fore last the school janitor drove away a couple of men who were attempting to set the house on fire. This morning they must have returned and been partiafly successful. The house has been unoccupied for some time.

Land Frauds Coming.

The B. & M. train from Denver, this morning, will contain among others Jno. C. Turner, Frank Hurst, Hugh Ryan, Alonzo M. Weils, James Dormin, five out of 17 men implicated in land frauds in this state. They will be in charge of a Deputy U. S. Marshal. Seven more will probably be arrested to-day. All of them are prominent citizens of Denver, and some of them are large property owners.
